Graduating Class to Form Varied Program For Convocation

An active program has been planned by the class for Convocation Week. As the dates for the general activities of convocation week have not been announced as yet and the class do not want their own activities to conflict with them, no definite dates have been chosen, but all members of the class are asked to note carefully the announcement which will be made in the Convocation Issue of the Daily giving the definite dates of all class functions.

It has definitely been decided to hold a class dance at the Maples on the evening of May 11, the day of the last exams. Other projected events are a golf tournament, a baseball game with R.V.C. and several other undertakings. All members of the class are asked to watch carefully for more details in the Convocation Issue.

Newly Elected Arts Officers Resign En Masse From Posts

New Elections Necessary — Nominations Called For By March 31st

WORD has been received that the four successful candidates in the recent Arts Elections have given official notice of their resignation as a body from the Executive. The reasons for this move, as is explained in the accompanying letter to the Editor, are that the newly elected officers do

THIS resignation makes it necessary that a new election be held in the near future for which nominations are now being called. Official announcement was made last night by Ross Wilson, when he was informed of these withdrawals, that nominations must be in the hands of Bill Gentlemen by March 31st. The candidates will be announced in due time by means of posters in the Arts Building in the absence of any Daily. Elections will take place on Wed. April 5th.

Causes of Complaint

It was made clear that there was no doubt, expressed as to the honesty of those in charge of elections, all complaints being against the careless and irregular form of the whole management of the polls in not remaining open the full scheduled time, in the lack of any announcement of the withdrawal of one of the candidates and the lack of any provision being made for any recount of the ballots cast.

not feel that they could carry on after being put into office by an election which many of the electors claim was not carried out in a regular manner.

Those resigning are: President—Malcolm Ransom; Vice-Pres.—Alex. Duff; Secretary—Jim MacFarlane.

We therefore hereby tender our resignation from the posts to which we have been elected.

Trusting that our position will be fully understood in these circumstances.

We remain,

Adjutant Decorated At Corps Inspection

Major Brisbane Receives Honor at Annual Review of C.O.T.C.

PRIZES PRESENTED

Brigadier General Gibson Inspects Corps At Armory

The presentation of an Efficiency Decoration to Major Brisbane, Adjutant of the Corps, marked the annual inspection of the McGill Contingent C.O.T.C. which took place last night at the armory of the Canadian Grenadier Guards. The corps was inspected by Brig. Gen. Gibson, D.O.C.M.D. No. 4 and Sir Arthur Currie was among the guests.

The inspection commenced with a review of the corps by Gen. Gibson after which the corps gave a short display of drill. The inspecting officer then presented Major Brisbane with the Efficiency Decoration as a mark of his 20 years service as an officer.

Presenting Prizes

The parade was then officially dismissed and the men and officers gathered in the officers mess of the Guards where Sir Arthur Currie presented certificates and shooting trophies. The Reserve Officers' Cup was won by Major Patton and Lieutenant Harris who tied for first place. The Jenkins Trophy went to the H. Q. team composed of Majors Pennel and Bagg and Lieutenants Downs, Couper and Grimson.

Refreshments were then served and the corps finished their active season in an atmosphere of conviviality. It was announced that the annual dance will take place in the Windsor Hotel on the last day of this month.

Orchestra To Give First Performance After Reorganization

McGill Conservatorium Group to Give Concert On March 30th

TUPPER DIRECTS

To Present Two Soloists In Concert, in Convocation Hall of R. V. C.

Students and their friends will have the opportunity of hearing the McGill Conservatorium Orchestra under the direction of R. deH. Tupper on Thursday, March 30th, at 8:30 in the Convocation Hall in the R. V. C. This will be the first public appearance of this group since it was reorganized early this winter, but the polish of the performance is promised to be of high quality, since weekly practices have been held regularly.

The orchestra has occupied itself with studying symphonic forms of music, and in this connection will present two of the most promising of the Conservatorium pupils as soloists in concert. The program will include Beethoven's Prometheus Overture, a Concertstück for Piano and Orchestra by Weber, with Muriel Jackson at the piano, an Aria for Strings by Bach, a Berceuse by Jarnefeldt, the first movement of the concerto for violin and orchestra by Beethoven, with Alexander Brott, concert master, playing the solo violin, and the Italian Symphony in A by Mendelssohn. No admission will be charged.

Second Appearance

An indication of the recognition of the Conservatorium Orchestra by people not connected with the University is given in the invitation by Dr. Louis Balogh, organist of St. Patrick's Cathedral, to participate in a special concert with the cathedral choir. Dean Clarke has already given his consent to this proposal and complete plans have been formulated.

This second appearance of the Conservatorium Orchestra will take place on the evening of April 5th, in Windward Hall. Together with the choir of about eighty voices, two numbers will be given, firstly "The Spring," the opening part of Haydn's "Seasons," and secondly the sixth number of Brahms' Requiem. Paul de Marky will play the Liszt Piano concerto with the Orchestra. A nominal admission will be charged to this concert.

Spanish Club Plans Two More Meetings

Senor Moreno, Consul-General of Spain, Next Guest Speaker

Senor Jose Rojas y Moreno, Consul-General of Spain will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Spanish Club which will be held on Wednesday, March 29th, at 7:45 in the Union Grill Room. The topic of his address will be "A Trip Through Andalusia," illustrated with slides. Each slide will be given a full description and will have its authentic history narrated. The Consul-General, who is Honorary President of the Spanish Club's advisory board, is not only well worth hearing but affords an opportunity which members cannot afford to miss.

The meeting on Wednesday, April 5th, will be addressed by Senor Don Jose Rafael Pocatera, Professor of Spanish at l'Escole des Hautes Etudes Commerciales. His subject will be announced later.

At the meeting on Wednesday the 29th, plans for the annual meeting and future plans for the club will be discussed. The executive has had more stirring songs mimeographed for the sake of those who enjoy the Spanish Club's community singing. Refreshments will be served as usual.

Theological Society's Final Tea Tomorrow

TOMORROW the Theological Undergraduate Society will hold the last tea of the season. Although the attendance at these teas has been fairly good to date, more money is still required to widen the scope of the unemployment relief work for which they are held. It is hoped that as many students as possible will attend the tea tomorrow as an increase in funds will enable the Society to extend its work. The tea will take place between 4:30 and 6:00 and the price of admission is 25 cents single and 40 cents a couple.

Announced Plans For S.C.M. Camp

Certain corrections were made in the statement made in the Daily recently regarding the S.C.M. Spring Camp and were announced yesterday. The camp will be from May 11th to May 16th, instead of from May 10th to 15th.

The total cost of the camp will be $10.00 including five day's board, registration, as well as transportation to and from St. Marguerite. Rest and informality will be the keynote of the camp's proceedings, and this outing at Camp Oahwan is intended as a sedative after the work of the examination period. Various prominent men are to attend the camp to act as leaders.

Campus Life Section' Winners Announced

Hyman Rudolph and Relief Williams Win Cash Prizes

NOVEL FEATURES

Prize-winning Song A n d March in This Year's Annual

As soon as the final sheets came back from the engraver, the Annual Board set about choosing the winner of the "Campus Life Section," for which a competition was run a month ago. Last night the winners were announced. First prize goes to Hyman Rudolph, a check for ten dollars will be mailed to him in the near future; the second prize of five dollars has been awarded to Relief Williams.

The judges experienced some difficulty in alighting the prizes, since so many of the pictures sent in were of a high standard. Since so much good material had been received the Board were able to compile a very satisfactory photograph album, and the set-up does the pictures credit.

This year the Campus Life Section of the Annual will be run in the replica of the well known picture postcard or autograph album. The snapshots will be set on black pages and carefully captioned, with humorous titles for the most part.

To add to the attraction of these 16 pages a half dozen of them will carry cartoons, drawn specially for the Annual by one of our College artists.

There will be many other features in this year's publication; among them a copy of the song and the march which recently won prizes in the musical competition. The music and words of these as composed by Bob Freeman and Bruce Ross respectively will appear in print here for the first time.

The Annual Board of the McGill Annual have done their best to make this edition of the book a real success, and it is hoped that the students will respond with subscriptions.

University Women's Club Lowers Fees

Graduates To Benefit By Lowered Rates

"At the Annual Meeting of the University Women's Club, held on March 6th, 1933, it was decided that, in order to meet the economic needs of the times and to give to recent graduates the opportunities offered by such a Club, the initiation fee of Twenty-Five Dollars ($25.00) would be dropped for all women graduates who join the Club within six months after their first graduation. This means that a graduate who joins immediately upon graduation will pay only Twenty Dollars ($20.00) instead of Forty-Five Dollars. This motion was made retroactive, and the Class of '32 may join under similar conditions up to September 1st."

Study Of Neurology Seen As Important In Modern World

Dean C. F. Martin Discusses Neuro-surgery Before Electrical Club

BRAIN DESCRIBED

McGill To Be Mecca For Students And Research Workers

Speaking before the Electrical Club of Montreal at their luncheon in the Queen's Hotel yesterday noon, Dean C. F. Martin stressed the importance of the Neurological Institute which is to be founded in this city within the near future. Through the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation, it is likely that Montreal will become the Mecca for students and research-workers of Neurology.

Dean Martin defined Neurology as being the science of the nervous system and considered it analogous to telegraphy. The three main factors of the nervous system are the brain, the spinal cord and the nerves themselves. Messages which advise certain limbs to function are transmitted from the brain through the nerves, and sensations of pain are sent up the same way to the brain.

Ancient Surgery

Primitive brain surgery, 5000 years before the Christian era, was described. Certain mummies which have been exhumed, bear evidence of having had holes drilled in the skull and pieces gouged out, probably with flint. That such operations were undergone to relieve ailments as headaches and convulsions is extremely likely.

Within the last century it was discovered that the brain possessed certain centres which controlled all movements of the body. If such a brain-centre is touched with the anode of a battery, the limb it controls will involuntarily move. Such an affliction as epilepsy is caused by an abnormal pressure on a brain-centre.

Useless Parts

It is "strange but nevertheless true" that the brain is "over-wired," that is to say it possesses an over-supply of fibres. Certain sections as large as an egg can be removed without in any way affecting a human being. Interest in Neurology is more prevalent in Europe than in any other part of the world and large institutions, are located in Madrid, Berlin, Hamburg, Munich and Paris. At these centres, nervous diseases are studied and treatments devised. America is behind in this work, there being only one noteworthy institution in New York.

Mecca For Instruction
In looking around for a suitable centre at which to establish a Neurological Institute, the Rockefeller Foundation selected McGill for a variety of reasons. Primarily her facilities were excellent and the person-

Engineers Magazine Appears April First

Annual Publication Contains Articles Of Scientific Interest

April 1st will see the second annual appearance of the McGill University Engineering Magazine, a publication devoted to scientific subjects, copies of which may be secured at Harry Grimdale's office for the sum of twenty-five cents.

The purpose of this publication is to provide the engineering student with a training in expression and to demonstrate his ability to write a comprehensive report or article. Only papers of a general interest have been considered for publication. Due to the large number of papers contributed the managing board has been forced to omit from this issue many articles but hope to publish these in future editions.

The majority of the articles have been prepared by students in the faculty of engineering, many of these articles containing illustrations and drawings. This year the magazine has been increased in size, and will contain approximately seventy pages.

The sale of subscriptions has been very encouraging up till the present, over eighty per cent of the students in the faculty having subscribed and many graduates have become regular subscribers.

The editorial board is as follows:
Editor-in-Chief: A. L. Hough, Eng. 33.
Managing-Editor: L. D. McGee, Eng. 33.
Associate Editors: C. P. Sturdee, Eng. 34; D. O. D. Ramsdale, Eng. 38.

Commerce Society To Be Addressed By Doctor Leacock

"REDEMPTION after Graduation" will be the subject of Dr. Stephen Leacock's talk at the Commerce Undergraduates' luncheon to be held next Thursday in the Grill Room of the Union.

In the past it has been the custom of the executive to invite prominent businessmen to speak, but this being the last luncheon of the year, the society decided to invite as the guest speaker, an outstanding member of the faculty. No reference need be made to the quality and entertainment of an address by Dr. Leacock, the very title should afford the speaker an unusual opportunity.

Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained from any of the class executives after Monday, the usual price of forty cents being charged.

The Annual

A DISTINCTIVE contribution to the history of undergraduate life each year on the campus can be found in the pages of the annual. Through the co-operation and support of the student body "Old McGill" has gradually taken a place of high rank in the list of American college annuals.

This year will prove whether McGill students will continue to support the Annual as in past years. We realize that this year has been a difficult one financially for students. It has also been a difficult year for those who have been carrying on undergraduate activities. But there are certain movements and institutions that we cannot afford to see falter because of lack of student support in financial matters.

The Editorial Board of the Annual have taken it upon themselves to see that the Annual maintains the high standard set in former years. In the past few days they have put before the students a prospectus of this year's production. Any one who has taken the trouble to look it over should be convinced that this has been achieved. The Board of the Annual have had faith in the students; they are counting on your support. It is your duty to see that this support is forthcoming.

In Retrospect

AS this the last regular issue of the Daily goes to press the staff looks back upon its history during the past year as one which is, if not in its form one of outstanding improvement over its predecessors, at least one which has been replete with activity and bewildering events. As the session began no one would have prophesied for the Daily a future that differed to any extent from the ordinary routine of making news, preparing advances, predicting the weather, advising students as to what they should or should not do, or of the other many tasks which devolve upon the Daily as the student organ.

Student apathy, which has been in the past such a boon to editorial writers, has been dealt a death blow. No longer must the powers that be run hither and yon to collect a quorum for a student's society meeting. Their future problem will be to secure a hall large enough to accommodate the undergraduates, eager to uphold their constitutional rights. And all this came as the result from the interest shown in the almost-forgotten mass meeting held last December, when eight hundred students assembled in the Union to cast their votes for or against McGill's major undergraduate institution.

And yet another innovation will appear with the Convocation issue when the Daily will be published in tabloid size similar to the practice of many other university newspapers on the continent. The chief purpose of this proposed change is to make the size of the Daily vary with the amount of advertising and to facilitate the preparation of copy.

We would ask the students to consider the proposed change carefully that any expression of opinion may truly represent the mind of the student body.

Spring Sonata

AFTER the exams—what? As we all settle down grimly for the last lap, this query inevitably rises in our minds, and to our burden of uncertainty is added one more unsolved riddle. On this campus one solution to this perplexing problem has been found in the form of a Spring Camp. In the heart of the Laurentians, "far from the madding crowd," McGill students will have the opportunity to recuperate from the strenuous week of exams and get away from the bustle of the campus for five days of tranquility and carefree enjoyment. Probably the best possible manner of getting back to normal after the last mad scramble for marks is a complete change of environment and a few days of congenial fellowship enjoying life abundantly.

These are offered by the S.C.M. in this University at the annual Spring Camp which is being held this year near Ste. Marguerite. This feature of the movement's program offers a balanced schedule of discussion and recreation under capable leaders and amid the most favorable of surroundings where work is pleasure and conferences are most productive.

This is indeed a worth while venture which fills a real need on the campus.

THE THEATRE

"Noe" By The MRT

IF freedom from pedanticism, highly colorful tableaux, and direct simplicity of plot and material are to be considered of dramatic worth, then the Montreal Repertory Theatre's presentation in collaboration with the "Anciens du Gesu" of "Noe" is most successful. The story of the biblical Noah is the model upon which the author, Andre Obey has clothed wit and beautiful prose; the audience is freed from following the meanderings of a plot, and concerns itself with the words and actions of the moment, increasing both the author's and the actor's responsibilities. To say that the performance last night did not show any lax moments of consequence, and that the interest was held steadfast throughout is to assert its excellence. This is without doubt one of the major successes of the M.R.T. for all its departments.

The theme at the back of the play, aside from the actual flood details, is an excellent one, masterfully handled; it is the thanklessness of ordinary humanity, their "Oh, how lovely it used to be" attitude, and, in contrast, the security and peace that comes with faith, — faith in principles and the truth. When Noe stands in the midst of adversaries muttering "C'est vrai que c'est dur," and then tosses his head to throw aside disparaging thoughts, he sums up his entire attitude, and the feelings of all the members of his fraternity. The commonplaces that are wives and sons and daughter-in-laws are at best merely details in life that show even less understanding than the dumb animals.

French conventions in the drama would seem to invite such characters as Noe and his associates. Overemphasis of lines and postures appeared far more in place here than would be possible in any English production, and when the cast works together as they did last night, most cause for objection disappears. Thus it is that Honore David's Noe loses nothing in his dramatic posing, — attitudes that might seem ridiculous in a lesser artist, but here always logical, even though extreme. His bearing and the easy restraint that he exercised over his speech betrayed experience of a high order, — and his part demanded most of his tricks-in-hand.

The cast reflected in varying proportions the abilities of their leading man. Yvette Goulin, a slightly hysterical Madame Noe, was never out of tune with the production; Ferdinand Biondi made Cham both amusing and vigorous, while Georges Bouvier as Sem and Guy Fillon Payoux as Japhet did not lag behind. Wives, an authentically savage man, highly amusing conventions of animals, bears to frisking monkeys and well-inspired sound-effects completed the roster.

The scenery was very well in keeping with the atmosphere of this modern French Noah, and advanced more reasons for the value of competition in this direction than ten theses. The amateur stage in Montreal has rarely witnessed such a fine blending of clear brilliant colors built up in bold patches into perfectly convincing forms. The lighting had much to do with this, as was most apparent in the last scene on Mount Arrarat.

The hall itself, a many columned basement amphitheatre in the Salle Academique of the College Sainte-Marie, while excellent for acoustics and vision must have presented many technical difficulties in contrast to the comparatively well equipped and modern Moyse Hall stage, — the usual M. R. T. locale, — and therefore the successful achievements are all the more praiseworthy. Martha Allen directing with the help of Pacific Plante has another credit to her name. Noah has been reincarnated as we would have him, and the audience cannot help but benefit doubly. The play will be repeated tonight for the last time, and students with the barest smattering of the French language would do well to see this masterpiece.

THE THEATRES PRESENT

His Majesty's Theatre

CONTRARY to policies practised in the past by stock organizations in Montreal, His Majesty's Players, who will make their bow at a gala opening next Tuesday night at His Majesty's theatre, plan a schedule of ten performances each week. Departing from the usual custom of opening on Sunday evenings, the company will, instead, give the first presentation of each new play on Monday night, with two performances a day thereafter, excepting Friday. Thus there will be matinees on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

In addition to this innovation, an announcement issued today further states, the management of His Majesty's Players are at great pains to encourage the subscription plan among local theatre-lovers. This system, whereby patrons announce their intention in advance of supporting a repertory company through the simple process of advising the theatre by letter and requesting the same reservations from week to week, prevails at present in most of the large centres of the United States. Philadelphia, Chicago and Detroit, among others, have found that such a scheme ensures the best of plays and the most thorough and painstaking production of them.

The management also draws attention to the low admission charges, deliberately scaled down, it is explained, in view of current conditions.

Capitol Theatre

JOHN BARRYMORE will be seen in his latest starring vehicle "Topaze" the screen feature at the Capitol next week with Myrna Loy in the supporting cast. The second feature is "Lucky Devils" with Bill Boyd and Dorothy Wilson.

"Topaze" from the novel by Marcel Pagnol and directed by Harry A. Armat, rests upon a story that is as French as cognac and just as delightful. There is nothing ponderous or melodramatic about it as it is the essence of absurdity made important by expert mood juggling, brittle lines and superlative acting.

Beautifully mounted "Topaze" is a treat to eye, ear and one's love for really clever comedy drama. John Barrymore is splendidly effective in the title role and Myrna Loy is delightful as the siren who is almost as naive as Topaze. Miss Loy wears some very sophisticated and provocative clothes. Others in the cast are Luis Alberni and Reginald Mason.

The second feature "Lucky Devils" reveals to what length aerialists and general stunt men will go to satiate the fans' craving for thrills. They think nothing of the denouement, but steel their nerves and co-ordinate mind and body to perform breath-taking crashes, leaps and flights.

Bill Boyd gives a sincere and convincing portrayal. Dorothy Wilson, William Gargan, Roscoe Ates.

Short subjects complete the program.

Loew's Theatre

MORE entertainment for less money is the new slogan at Loew's Theatre starting today. The new policy offers 7 acts of vaudeville and an outstanding screen production.

The screen feature, starting today, is "Hot Pepper" featuring Vitor McLaglen, Edmond Lowe, Lupe Velez and El Brendel, and depicts the most recent adventures of the immortal characters Flagg and Quirt.

In "Hot Pepper" they cast aside their uniforms for evening clothes. They battle for the loves of women, ride in bar-equipped limousines and live the life of ritzy people. Quirt and Flagg become the life of Broadway and their cafes form the backgrounds for lively doings where women and song vie with wine and money.

Gloria Roy, Boothe Howard and Russ Clark, each of whom gives a notable performance.

The vaudeville bill is headlined by Eddie Conrad, assisted by Carlotta Miles in a delightful composition of comedy, song and music. Other acts are offered by White and Manning, the international dancing stars and late of Ziegfeld Follies in "Terpischore and Technocracy," Paul and Nino Ghezzi "Striking a Balance," Max and his Gang in "Carnal Intelligence," Herbert Faye in "Laughology," Krugel and Robles in "At the Bank-Wet."

Selections from "42nd Street" will be offered as the musicale.

Palace Theatre

"42ND STREET," the musical comedy extravaganza, with a cast of 14 big stars, fifty featured players, and two hundred dazzling girls opens at the Palace Theatre Saturday.

"42nd Street" is the catchiest, snappiest and most intriguing musical movie the industry has yet offered. It is a vivid gripping dramatic story of that mysterious world behind the scenes of a theatre — but it doesn't stop there. It beats the pulses to the rhythm of nimble dancers' tireless feet, and the irresistible intoxication of tuneful music dispensed by the flower of metropolitan orchestras. But if you think that "42nd Street" is merely a musical comedy in motion picture form, you have a dozen surprises in store for you.

Warner Baxter delivers one of the outstanding portrayals of his screen career as Julian Marsh, the stage director of "Pretty Lady." Bebe Daniels appears as Dorothy Brock, in which role she is heard singing from time to time during the preparation of the musical comedy. Una Merkel impersonates a saucy young chorus girl who is always ready with a smart retort for any impertinent young man.

Delightful short subjects are also featured.

AN APOLOGY

Dear Sir,

There appears to have been some misunderstanding of a sentence on Page 3 of the last issue of The Alarm Clock: "Moreover he (Mr. Clarke) informed us that his menu had been approved by Dr. Collip of McGill University as dietetically adequate."

We wish to make it quite clear that neither Dr. Collip nor the Department of Biochemistry has any responsibility for the quality of the meals served at Vitre Street. The analysis made by the Department was prepared in an entirely unofficial and advisory capacity; the Department had no authority to see that its recommendations were carried out; it cannot, therefore, be held responsible for the present caloric content of the meals. It was certainly not our intention to cast any reflection upon the Department of Biochemistry and we regret that Dr. Collip's name was mentioned in our report.

Red Relay Team Capture Collegiate Indoor Crown

Edwards Shows Keen Style To Take Dominion 1000 Title

McGILL's relay team paced in ahead of Varsity and McMaster in the mile, making it in 3 minutes, 33 and 3-5 seconds. McMaster followed the Redmen to the finishing line.

Phil Edwards' brilliant display at Toronto easily ran away with the show. Competing in the Canadian indoor track and field championships held in that city on Tuesday evening, Edwards led a field composed of Ned Turner, Michigan, and W. Heintz, Cincinnati, to win in the 1000 yard race. Edwards took the race in 2.17.4. Edwards ran a pretty race all the way and came in ahead of the Michigan runner by two and a half yards.

Doubtful Interview With Roosevelt

"The college student of today is an alert, peppy, up-to-the-minute person," said Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in an imaginary interview granted in the Daily today. Governor Roosevelt will be inaugurated president of the United States in a few months, according to rumors reported here.

"I place my hopes and beliefs in college students. In fact, so much do I believe in them that I am planning to take a few of them away from their books and lectures and place them in office at Washington as soon as the opportunity permits," continued the governor, we hope.

You see, the enterprising reporter had lots of ambitions and an editor, but no enterprise. So, being tired of asking comical co-eds and flippant frosh about cozzies and plays-football and otherwise-we decided to imagine an interview with a real big shot. Frankie the Fearless was a good subject, so we hope no one will mind.

"I have been delighted in my visit here at Northwestern. The girls are mighty pretty. My idea of a beautiful girl is a wholesome girl. She must weigh at least 135 pounds, wear her hair off her forehead and behind her ears, and dress simply and in bright colors," believes Roosevelt. "Ears show character and the forehead shows intelligence."

"I feel that students here should be given more opportunity to relax," he said. "As I look about the campus the only things that spoil the youthful spirit are the tense looks on people's face-and not too many books."

"Personally I feel that chewing gum is a good way to relax. If we only had more time to sit before the fire and chew gum," he declared.

"When I'm president..." he began. And the great man heaved a great sigh in a big way. "But what's the use... you're only making all this up anyway. Well, come back in about five years, and I'll give you a real interview."

Final Score Stands At 15-6 In Fast Tilt

Interfaculty Baseball opened with a bang Tuesday evening when Arts defeated Commerce by a 15-6 score in a close game that brought out keen ball from both sides. Pitcher Brenhouse of Arts had the Commerce men toned down pretty well, and his men gave him plenty of support. The Commerce hurlers, Watt and McDuff did good work and put up a strong display considering that it is the first game played.

The Arts team ran up a small lead and kept the Commercials scoreless till the third inning when they broke into the run list. Teams were fairly even till near the last inning when Arts made their presence felt and downed their opponents.

Newman Club Will Elect New Officers

Last Meeting of Year Taking Place Sunday, April Second

The Newman Club will hold its last meeting of the year on Sunday, April 2nd at 9:30 o'clock in the Ladies Chapel of St. Patrick's Church. After the Regular Mass election of officers for 1933-34 will be held and reports from the Secretary and Treasurer read.

The elections this year will be important from a number of aspects. The retiring President, Desmond Shortall, has been active in placing the Club in a position of respect not only in local circles, but throughout Eastern Canada by the recently organized Canadian Province, and for this reason his decision not to stand for reelection was inopportune.

However, the nominations received for the position of Club-head are guarantees that his successor will be well fitted to take over the reins of leadership without loss of prestige to the Club. In this regard, Charles Wayland, Arts '33 and Louis Quinn are his possible successors. Other positions to be filled are those of Vice-President, 1st Vice-President (must be a woman), Treasurer, Secretary, Ass-Secretary (a woman), and six councillors, two of whom must be women.

Inasmuch as this meeting will determine the executive for the coming year, all Catholic students of McGill are asked to turn out to ensure the election of the most capable parties.

"Go To Danvers For Reply" — Is Attack Answer

Boston, Mass.—A scathing attack on college professors, delivered by the Honorable F. H. Prince of Boston, and quoted in a special dispatch to the Springfield Republican recently, failed to burn the professorial ears as far as Boston University is concerned.

To indirectly quote Mr. Prince: "Chuck out the professors... Professors are one of the chief curses of this country... men do not shrink from life unless some cowardice enters into it and professors do not hesitate to accept the endowments of those who have served the people and the nation in commerce and industry, but do nothing themselves but talk." Mr. Prince even goes further to blame the troubles and difficulties of the past years upon the influence of the professors.

Interested in what effect this seemingly heretical charge might have upon a professor, a News reporter presented the statement to Prof. Marshall Perrin of C.I.A. for comment. The professor's reply was particularly enlightening. In one breath he registered amazement, disgust, and pity: "If you really want to obtain intelligent comment on this remarkable statement," he told the News reporter, "I suggest you go to Danvers. No doubt you will find a fitting reply there."

"The statement might be excused by the fact that the man (Mr. Prince) is looking at the subject from a material and physical plane, and not from the intellectual plane. To attempt an understanding of another's field, one must be on the same plane with it. Further than that I can not say, words fail me."

The Republican dispatch was well editorialized upon in the Springfield College Student, in the words that perhaps failed Professor Perrin. We quote in part:

"We cannot imagine a man who has the ability to amass and manage a large fortune pouring out such a tremendous amount of misconception and misunderstanding... We wonder if it ever occurred to the gentleman that it has been the influence of teachers since the time of Socrates that has made for social progress? If it were not for the small leisure of the scholarly professors, in which they give attention to things other than pressing daily business items, youth would mature in ignorance, and society would stagnate. Is it not barely possible that some of the troubles of the past ten years may be traceable to the faults in a system that allows one individual to become master of great wealth and hoard it in idleness."

The Treasurer earnestly requests all those participating in the activities of the Movement who have not already subscribed toward its upkeep, to consider seriously the difficulty being experienced in meeting obligations. We have a grave responsibility in regard to our Staff and further support must be found.

AFTER EXAMS... CAMP—$10 for 5 days, including registration, transportation, and all necessities.

nel of her staff in that branch of study was a group young, interested men. Moreover, since Dr. Penfield, a renowned neurological authority, was located here, the choice was doubly advisable. It is Dr. Penfield's intention to make this Institution a Mecca for those who seek training and instruction in that science as well as a place where sufferers of mental diseases may be relieved.

As evidence of the increasing interest developing in Neurology, Dean Martin pointed out that an International Congress of neurologists was held in Berne this year for the first time, and another one is scheduled to take place in London next year.

There is absolutely no provision for those suffering from incurable spinal and mental diseases in this city, beyond the asylum at Verdun. Dean Martin declared that many patients have been removed from that hospital and after removing tumors from their brains, they were restored to perfect sanity. It is his opinion that the Institution to be, will be able to thoroughly examine such sufferers and if possible cure them through an operation.

Students Put Out By Bank Closure

Lafayette, Ind. — With the bank withdrawal restrictions still as much in effect as when first inaugurated, students are gradually settling into new strata. Many are fast learning to adapt themselves to the situation; others find it much more difficult to adapt themselves, and hence are in a much "tougher spot."

With all the regrettable misfortunes that go with such an extraordinary measure, fate has kindly condescended to throw in a little humor to save the complete ruin of our spirits. From a school in Ohio, where students are trying to fathom the same kind of banking situation as we, comes the story of their traveling debate team having to sleep three in a bed, and one of their professors — on leave in New York — virtually stranded. One of their Ph.D. professors found himself with but three dollars to his name, and since we know that necessity natures inventions, we were not surprised to learn that he hired himself to a farmer, sank most of his fortune to ground corn, purchased some beans, and now announces to his classes that no one need starve as long as they can get corn and beans. He failed to say what he would do when the corn and beans are gone.

The number of pennies in circulation is unofficially reported to have rocketed to about eight times the normal, with restaurants and stores getting the most of them. From Ohio State comes the story of ten cent lunches and twenty cent dinners at their cafeteria... a snapping reporter was delighted with his meal.

Shaw Is Extended Many Invitations

New York—Twenty more invitations to address meetings broadcast, make news reels and play the lion generally and George Bernard Shaw, if he devotes one minute to each, will find the 1440 minutes to his stay in New York accounted for when he lands here from the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain next April.

Up to the time the world cruise liner left Bombay for Colombo, Shaw had received 1420 invitations from New York organizations. So far as is known he has accepted only one, that of the Political Society.

Should he decide to accept more, Mayor O'Brien, as one Irishman to another, would probably give him a motor-cycle escort, but even that attention could not make it possible for G.B.S. to accept all his bids. He would wear out too many good Irish policemen. If he has any time for diversion Shaw will have a chance to see himself as others see him at the Times Square Theatre where Frederick Worlock impersonates him in the play "Foolscap."

With characteristic Shavian gesture, Shaw, who left England December 15 for New York, is circling the globe to get here. The Empress of Britain, white world-cruising liner, is due here at noon Tuesday, April 11, and sails for Southampton at noon the following day.

Law Junior Tells Of Navy Career

Boston, Mass. — Few students can boast of a more vivid and exciting career than can Frederick Hiller, a junior at the School of Law, who in the service of the United States Navy, visited lands in every part of the world. He was an active participant in the bombardment of Vera Cruz and until this day regrets that the American navy had to shell about forty buildings to obtain an apology from the Mexican president.

During the World War he served on one of the two American destroyers which were connected with the Dover patrol. He also served with the troops which escorted the allied food trains across Germany into Poland.

While in the Navy he was continually selected as a delegate to the corp rifle meets, where the best riflemen in the fleet competed.

As commander of the Disabled Veterans of Massachusetts, Mr. Hiller appeared in court in behalf of the disabled veterans, and in this work his interest was directed toward the legal profession. Two years ago he entered the Law School where he has been active in class affairs.
